

Charles Street Area Council (CSAC) was incorporated in November 1981 serving portions of the Calbride and Charles Street Valley neighborhoods of the City of Pittsburgh. The purpose of the organization is broadly defined to include activities promoting the general welfare of the community.

Today, CSAC plays an active role in improving the quality of life for the residents of the area. It sponsors and participates in numerous projects and events. CSAC's participation in local and city-wide activities helps ensure the neighborhood's viability as a residential area.

CSAC works to foster and strengthen public/private/community partnerships. Major accomplishments include: assistance with the start up of a neighboring tenants council; implementation of an anti-graffiti campaign; and, improved communications between residents and police officers.
